

Dear Valued Members:

As planning for 2019 gets underway, we wanted to send a friendly reminder about an important partnership with the Community Bankers Webinar Network \(CBWN\).

The Independent Bankers Association of NYS (IBANYS) partners with CBWN to bring you more than 150 webinars each year covering compliance, lending, regulations, security, operations, new accounts, collections, fraud, security and other topics. Even better, each time you purchase a webinar, you support IBANYS, because a portion of your registration comes directly to us. Thank you!

The Community Bankers Webinar Network has recently made some improvements to serve you better. Unfortunately, some changes may have caused you to miss important webinar announcements. If you haven't seen news about upcoming webinars lately, please let your IT department know that @e.financialedinc.com (IP 13.111.87.30) is a safe sender. CBWN will continue to send webinar instructions and customer support emails from @financialedinc.com, so that domain should remain on your institution's safe sender list as well. Once your IT department makes these adjustments, you should start receiving emails right away. If not, please email support@financialedinc.com for further assistance.

We know that bankers receive a lot of emails and we are working closely with the Community Bankers Webinar Network to reduce the number of emails sent to our members. You can help clear the clutter in your inbox by clicking the Manage Your Email Preferences link at the bottom of any webinar announcement. Then choose only the webinar categories that interest you. We can assure you that CBWN is making this issue a top priority for 2019, watch for more developments in this area.

As always, we appreciate your continued membership and we hope our partnership with the Community Bankers Webinar Network continues to serve you and your bank.

Sincerely,

John J. Witkowski
President & CEO
