To All New York Community Bankers:

Good Morning! Hope everyone is staying safe and healthy.

Today is another opportunity to help small business customers fight through the adversity of this pandemic with the PPP extension.

We understand that every one of our communities will be impacted by COVID-19, in some way.

We also know there is no one working harder for their communities than community banks - not just here in New York State, but across the country.

All of you, your staff, your colleagues and your families are making a tremendous sacrifice and continue to make a difference in your communities.

We just wanted to say thank you!
